1. Retirement Benefits (BU-PP 600)
Eligibility

To retire from Baylor University, a Baylor employee must have attained age 55 and not have been involuntarily terminated or abandoned his or her job. Additionally, the employee must not have been determined by the CHRO (or designee), in the CHRO’s discretion, to be disqualified from receiving benefits. Benefits eligibility will be determined by the number of service years a faculty or staff member has worked at the University. Time spent as a temporary employee is not included. There are three retiree classifications: Grandfathered Retiree I, Retiree I, and Honorary Retiree.

Retirement status and benefits may be revoked in whole or in part after being initially granted if the individual was not originally eligible or as determined by the CHRO (or designee), in the CHRO’s discretion.

Retiree Classifications

Details on the benefits afforded to the retiree classifications below are available at the University’s Retirement Resources webpage. These benefits are subject to change in the sole discretion of the University, with or without notice. Nothing in this Policy is contractual, either expressly or impliedly.

Grandfathered Retiree I

Those faculty/staff members who have attained age 55 and who separate from service with 20 or more years of service as of May 31, 2007.

Retiree I

Those faculty/staff members who have attained age 55 and who separate from service with 10 or more years of continuous full-time service at Baylor University.

Honorary Retiree

Those faculty/staff members who have attained age 55 and who separate from service with more than 5 but less than 10 years of continuous full-time service at Baylor University.
Those faculty/staff members who have attained age 55 and who separate from service and have completed at least 10 years of continuous regular part-time service at Baylor University.
